The new organization formed this winter and alled the Schmidt-Herbert Quartet, comp of Louis Schmidt, Jr., first violin; Henry viols, and Victor Herbert, violoncello, has been ally. The last concert of this season's series was given yesterday evening, and though somewhat too sombre and severe as re gards selections upon the programme, and therefore loss interesting than its preceding ones, was nevertheless an exhibition of most intelligent and spirited playing. The carnestness and zeal displayed by this quartot, and the buoyancy of expression as well as the almost virtuoso-like brilliancy of execution, make an ensemble of qualities quite remarkable. These fine attributes, we regret to say, were not set off to the greatest advantage last evening. The Schubert quartet in A minor is not a charming one, and even the leethoven in F minor, full of good writing though it is, falled to arouse the enthusiasm that the Schubert can awaken. But the failure lay quite as distinctly in the mistaken idea of programme—making as in any fault of performance. And it is to be hoped that the quartet will choose a more cheerful hall for its concerts next senson. gards selections upon the programme, Inat the quartet will enouse a more cheerful hall for its concerts next senson.

Mr. Louis Schmidt made a decidedly excellent impression by his strong and vigorous viclin playing in several solos. He was repeatedly encored with heartlest expressions of admiration. A clever quartet, entitled "Scherzo-Tarentelle," in canon form, by Mr. Schmidt, was an attractive feature of the concert programme.

The Contest Gver Tony Hart's Widow's Will Settled.

The contest over the will of Gertrude Evelyn Cannon, the actress, wife of Tony Hart, was discontinued before Surrogate Ransom yesterday. Civil Justice Clancy, counsel for the contestant, said that his client, Anthony Cannon, Sr., father of Tony Hart, was 80 years of age and in feeble health. The contestant was argely at the mercy of the other side, and had largely at the mercy of the other side, and had agreed to accept a reasonable consideration to withdraw.

Mrs. Cannon, who, it was alleged, received the greater part of her estate from her demented husband, died on March 13, 1830, leaving a will which did not mention her husband, who was then in an insane asylum in Massachusetts suffering from paresis. She made a number of bequests to friends, and left the residue of her estate to her foster brother, John Monahan, and her nephew, Anthony Hart Athy.

The will was contested by the representatives of the insane actor. He died pending the contest, and the case was carried forward by his father. Col. Ingersoll appeared in support of the will.

More Trouble for McKee Rankin San Francisco, March 16.-McKee Rankin, he agtor, was summoned before Justice Campbell in this city yesterday to show cause why which they have waited six years. In August, 1886, Rankin hired the men for one week and agreed to pay them the sum claimed. They fulfilled the contract, but Rankin fulled to pay them. They sued and got judgment, but until now they have had no opportunity to recover. Rankin recently came here from the East to press his divorce suit against his wife. He has been acting at a local theatre for several weeks and has received large wages. Hence the anxiety of the musicians to collect their judgment. With this claim and his divorce suit. Rankin is likely to have a lively time during the next few weeks.

Metropolitan Opera House Directors Award the Direction of the Enterprise to Abbry, Schoefel & Grau on the Most Liberal Terms Ever Given to Impression.

The directors of the Metropolitan Opera House, at their annual meeting yesterday it he opera house, settled the question of grand opera in this city for the next three years in ing the direction of the enterprise to Messrs Abbey, Schoeffel and Grau for that time, on the most liberal terms yet given to impresa rios by New York supporters of grand opera Impresario Abbey will not only get a cash guarantee of $2,000 for every performance on regular opera nights from the stockholders, but in addition will have the absolute control of the entire building for three years under a lease from the directors, and will be free to of the other entertainments given in the opera house proper or in the concert hall annex.

This handsome return for Impresario Abbey's effort to give first-class grand opera in Italian and French to New York's music lovers this season was quickly determined upon yesterday afternoon. It took less that an hour to discuss and dispose of other offers and to decide in Impresario Abbey's favor. President James A. Roosevelt presided, and President James A. Roosevelt presided, and there were also present ex-Secretary W. C. Whitney, Adrian Iselin, Luther Kountz, George Pabody Wetmore, George N. Curtis, G. G. Haven, and Robert Goelet, eight of the thirteen directors, and Secretary E. C. Stanton.

Besides Impresario Abbey's offer, the meeting had before it the proposition of Manager Rosenfeld, to produce German opera, as the representative of a syndicate of German opera admirers, and of Channing Ellery and Emil Belario to produce opera in Italian. Sir Augustus Harris of London, who was recently reported to be anxious to produce Italian opera in this eity, submitted no proposition.

Mr. Abbey's offer came in the shape of a statement of what he would do under certain conditions. In conversation with the directors he had suggested that the guarantee of $2,000 a night paid this season be increased to $2,000 if another season was to be undertaken. This suggestion was made weeks ago informally, and brought about the compromise that was agreed to quickly, namely, to give Mr. Abbey the free lease of the opera house for three years in lieu of the additional $500 a night guarantee. Mr. Abbey had agreed to accept this compromise. Every director present expressed himself as well pleased with Mr. Abbey's season just ended, and said that the manager deserved encouragement, and the vote to approve a contract with Mr. Abbey to give opera for three years from Oct. I next was umanimous. Mr. Abbey guarantees, on his part, to give at least lifty-two performances of grand opera each season.

Secretary Stanton issued a formal statement from the directors at the close of the meeting, which contained the announcement that the directors understood that the De Reszke brothers and M. Lasalle were to be members of the Abbey Grau company next season. The stockholders will meet on April 6 to ratify the action of the directors.

The stockhelders will meet on April 6 to ratify the action of the directors.

Tresident Roosevelt said after the meeting, in explanation of the liberal terms agreed to by the directors: "We have tried to give opera ourselves, and have discovered that Mr. Abbey can accomplish that task much better than we can. Everybody is pleased with what he has accomplished this season. We have not been very successful in leasing the building this season either, and have come to the conclusion that perhaps Mr. Abbey can be more successful in that branch of management also. The entire force of the opera house will be turned over to his control, and he will be the sole director. These terms are perhaps even better than those that he asked of $2.500 a night guarantee."

Ex-Secretary Whitney said that Mr. Abbey would now have a chance to make money in managing the opera house, and that he, individually, was pleased with this season's opera, and sincerely hoped that Mr. Abbey would do as well in the succeeding seasons.

Mr. Stanton will retain his position as secretary of the Board of Directors under the new lease, but his duties will be separated from any cares of management.

It is understood that Mr. Abbey will include several popular German operas in his next season's repertoire, but the majority of the works will be from the Italian school. It is known that the De Reszke brothers are really anxious to return to America next season, and that M. Lasalle shares this feeling. Ali three have been deeply affected by the cordiality of their reception by the leaders of New York society.

Mr. Grau hesitated a moment and then replied with a shrug: "We shall not be too exclusive. If any one wishes to hire the building for a short time for the purpose of giving German opera, we shall let man have it, but there will not be any German opera given under my management.

WHAT HE GOT FOR THROWING DICE. It Included a Knock-down, an Arrest, and a Broken Leg.

James Wilson of 65 Hudson street, Jerse City, went into McAuliffe's saloon at Hudson and Sussex streets in that city, on Tuesday night, and, after drinking several times, began to throw dice with the bartender, Henry Atwood, for money. Wilson lost $2, and then the tide of fortune turned, and he won $5. At this time it was 2 A. M., and Wilson expressed a time it was 2 A. M., and Wilson expressed a desire to go home. Atwood objected. He wanted a chance to win his money back, and insisted on continuing the game. Wilson started to go away, when Atwood, it is said, pounced on him, knocked him down, and took the $5 away from him. Wilson called Policeman Quinn and explained the situation. The policeman started for the police station with both men. As they were passing the Academy of Music Wilson fell and broke his leg. He was removed to the City Hospital in an ambulance.

Atwood was arraigned before Police Justice O'Donnell in the morning, accused of highway robbery. Wilson was unable to appear, but sent word that he had no desire to press the charge. Judge O'Donnell said there seemed to be some collusion in the case and he did not intend that a felony should be compromised. He directed Policeman Quinn to make a charge of larceny from the person, and he fixed Atwood's bail at $1.000. When Wilson recovers he will be required to appear in court as a he will be required to appear in court as a witness.

Every precaution was taken to establish the actor's deathbefore any prepar ations were made for his interment. The body retained its warmth and color unusually long after death, and as long as these apparent signs of life lasted the body was kept wrapped in blankets and was watched constantly. There were other reasons which governed the action of Mr. Kyle's relatives. The dead actor was convinced that many persons have been buried while in a trance. Struggle in the Board of Education Over the Choice of a Typewriter Girl.

There was a momentous question before the Board of Education yesterday that took up nearly the entire session. It wasn't the resoution calling upon the Comptroller to issue $1,000,000 more school bonds for new buildings and sites. The Board got that quesion out of the way in loss than two minutes. The question that vexed the Board was the employment of a typewriter girl for the Clerk of the Board, Mr. Arthur McMullin. They all agreed that there was "sore need," as one of the Commissioners expressed it, of giving the Clork a typewriter to help him out. But should she be good looking? The Finance Committee had chosen one young woman out of three applicants, notifled her that she had been appointed, and advised her to move to New York. She was Miss fied her that she had been appointed, and advised her to move to New York. She was Miss Rose A. Redgate of Brooklyn. Miss Redgate moved to New York, and she addressed a letter to the Board of Education, which was rend yesterday, notifying it of the fact. When Chairman Lummis of the Finance Committee had submitted his report Mr. O'Brien got up and said:

"I understand that the only objection the Finance Committee had to Miss McCartie, the New York applicant, was that God had created her good looking. At least, one of the committee told me that he was opposed to her on that account. I can waive that objection myseif."

Mr. Lummis said that the young woman chosen by the committee appeared to be better equipped than Miss McCartie. "As to the good looks of the latter—well, it is not necessary to speak of that here, I am not interested here, as you all know."

"Of course not!" remarked somebody. "Don't you wish—"

Everyloody looked at Clerk McMullin, who sat blushing next to the President.

The voting was close. It looked like a tie, but good looks carried the day by a majority of 10 to 7. All present veted for Miss McCartie except Messrs, Holt, Hubbell, Lummis, McClay, Pardy, Hunt, and Mrs. Williams.

Miss McCartie is tall and a blonde, in marked contrast with Miss Redgate, who is rather short and of dark complexion. They chatted with each other during the examination.

There was a war of words, also, over the appointment of a board of ten physicians to examine all teachers and applicants for situations as teachers. It was veted to amend the bylaws, making it a requirement that all such shall furnish certificates of good health signed by one of the board of ten physicians. The fee will be $3.

An Attempt to Make Autl-Hill Capital a the Butchess Club's Election.

POUGHKEEPSIE, March 16.-An attempt was made to inject factional politics into the Dutchess Club here to-day at their annual election. The club is the leading social organization of the city and is composed of Democrats and Republicans in equal numbers. A few hotheads undertook to repeat the John Boyd Thatcher episode, which so excited the people of Albany a few days ago. J. W. Hinckley, editor of the News-Irrss, has been one of the Governors of the club for some years. He is a pronounced iDemocrat, is a great friend of Gov. Hill and is the delegate from this county to the National Democratic Convention. A few days ago it became known that an attempt would be made to defeat him for reclection, and, although Mr. Hinckley had decided not to accept a third term, his friends insisted that under the circumstances he must again stand for reclection, which he did, with the result of hringing out the largest attendance at an annual meeting that the club has ever had. Mr. Hinckley received more votes than any other man on the ticket. In fact, he received four-fifths of the votes cast. All the Democrats in the club voted for him, as did nearly all of the Republicans. The opposition had planned what they intended would be a surprise, but their intention leaked out. It was their purpose to telegraph their victory, had they secured it, all over the country as a rebuke to a national Hill delegate. They are very much chagrined over their overwhelming defeat. aged 72 years.
Funeral on Thursday at 1 30 P. M., from his late resia drunken man with two negresses, who, I thought, wanted to rob him. I saw this officer, and insisted that he arrest the negresses. He refused, and I asked him for his number.

"He called me a d—d sheeny and slapped me in the face, knocking my hat and my spectacles oft. I made charges against him.

"On Monday afternoon between 2 and 4 o'clock the officer came to my house with a black-whiskered man. The man handed me $15 and told me not to say anything about the case. I told them I didn't want the money, but they left it and went away."

"Here is the money." The doctor took $15 in bills out of his pocket and handed them to commissioner Martin.

Policeman Mahaffey denies the charges. John Fulman of 142 West Fourth street testified that he was present, and that Mahaffey did not assault the doctor. He said that Dr. Harman was the man who was with the negresses in West Third street.

"What were you doing in that neighborhood at that hour:" Mr. Martin asked the doctor.

"Just taking a walk," was the reply.

Commissioner Martin said that the $15 would be furned into the Pension Fund, and reserved his decision. Funeral on Thursday at 1:30 P. M., from his late residence, 3009 East 20th st.

$35,000. There were then 3,703 depositors. It was said to-day several German citizens called at the bank yesterday afternoon and tried to effect a lean.

The officers of the bank were not satisfied with the security offered and declined to advance any money. The refusal was accepted by the Germans as an indication that the bank was not sound. President Bill remained at the bank all day. At noon several hundred depositors had withdrawn their money, and $35,000 had been paid out. Usually the institution is closed at noon, but to-day it remained open until 4 o'clock. Conservative business men here express the belief that there are no grounds for the fears of the depositors.
